These bets are already allowed at live betting offices and over the phone, so adding them to online sportsbooks seems like a logical step. A notable feature of European Roulette is the En Prison bet: if the zero falls out when a player bets on chances, the bets remain for the next round; they do not burn out. And if the player wins in the next round, he gets his wager amount back, but minus the winnings. The bet burns if the player loses in the follow-up game as well.
