Throughout the season, odds will bounce around and fluctuate, and it is anyone's guess whose prices will rise and whose prices will fall, but generally speaking, the earlier you get on a team, the more likely you are to attain better odds. Again, having accounts with all our sites will help you decide which prices are best; the differences in some might be small, but they certainly pay dividends overtime, and why punt on something with lower odds when someone else is offering slightly superior prices? It just doesn't make sense. Let's say you play the Jacks or Better video poker variant, which has a very favourable 99.54% payout percentage. Your aim is to end up with a royal flush. So what are the odds of you getting a royal flush? Unfortunately, as you would expect for such a rare hand, they are not very favourable at 40,390:1. This means that you have around a 0.002% chance of getting the hand. To reflect this, the payout is the highest in the game at 4000 units. The lesson – the more valuable hands are more difficult to get, and the greater the odds against getting a particular hand, the higher the payout. So what does this tell you? The greater the odds, the higher the payout. The bonus is valid for players from the following countries: Australia, Finland, Germany, Iceland, Ireland, Luxembourg, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland mater prize home
